

Sunset Children's Orchestra and Opera Singers to Present Arias

The Sunset Youth Chamber Orchestra (pictured above), along with Kristin Clayton and her husband, professional opera singer Bojan Knezevic, will present favorites from Rigoletto, Carmen, Die Fledermaus together with 17th Century Italian arias in the Yerba Buena Gardens.

The performance is scheduled for Saturday, May 19 and is part of the San Francisco Youth Arts Festival. It is open to the public and there is no charge.

Arranger and conductor for this unique group of 7 to 19-year-olds is Tatiana Ganenko, a violinist from St. Petersburg Conservatory. This program is a result of her lifelong dream to encourage and develop young musicians talent. Ganenko teaches at the French-American International School and at home privately while maintaining an extensive performing schedule that takes her from the Sacramento Philharmonic to San Francisco Chamber Orchestra.

For additional information about the Sunset Youth Chamber Orchestra call 415-242-9057 or visit www.sunsetyouthorchestra.com.